A Message to Student Associates

CONGRATULATIONS!

Whether you are finishing the first year of your undergrad or finally reaching the end of your professional degree, the Ontario Association of Architects (OAA) wants to extend its warmest congratulations! Architecture school isn't easy, and this year's developments have added challenges none of us could have imagined, so congratulations on your well-earned success.

As the regulator of the architecture profession in Ontario, the OAA is dedicated to promoting and increasing the knowledge, skill, and proficiency of its members, and protecting the public interest.

Do you hold status with the OAA? If you aren't a Student Associate yet, now is the time to sign up! It is free and ensures you receive the latest news, updates, and resources the OAA has to offer, including a very special email package being put together for July with tons of great resources and information specific to you. Becoming a Student Associate also lets you begin the process of logging your hours required for your professional licensing as an architect later on—it's well worth a few minutes to fill out the application!

Next Steps | Message to the Graduating Class

Reaching the end of your M.Arch.? If you haven't already, be sure to sign up for free as a Student Associate to receive information from the OAA while continuing on your path to becoming an architect. Your next step is to ensure you have your Canadian Architectural Certification Board \(CACB\) certification of academic qualification. You will need this to register as an Intern Architect with the OAA or any other provincial or territorial architecture body in Canada.

Don't have it yet? Check with your school's registrar or administration if they have sent the information to the CACB.

Already have it? Then you can go ahead and register as an Intern Architect! You don't need to be employed or have chosen your mentor yet to apply.
